

— THE CAROLINA INN —

“a cheerful inn for vistors, a town hall for the state, and a home for returning sons and daughters of alma mater.” - John Sprunt Hill

What Makes The Inn Special?

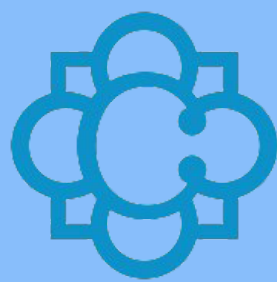

- The inn was built with a southern colonial style that mimics George Washington’s Mount Vernon.
- The inn has been listed on the National Register of Historic Places since 1999.
- The inn is believed to be haunted by many ghosts, including a past resident of suite 252, William Jacocks.

History of the Inn!

The Carolina Inn was built in 1924 by a UNC 1889 graduate, John Sprunt Hill.

In 1939-1940 the hotel was expanded and several wings were added.

In 1935, John Stuart Hill donated the Carolina Inn to UNC Chapel Hill with the condition that inn profits must go towards supporting the North Carolina Collection at Wilson Library.

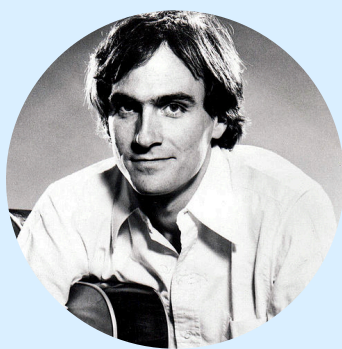

Between 1969-1990, under the management of DoubleTree, The Carolina Inn underwent additional renovation processes that included adding a second wing.
